HOOP FORM

Cheat Sheet — beginner essentials

STANCE

- Feet shoulder-width apart, one slightly forward.
- Knees soft — never locked, never deeply bent.
- Weight evenly centered. Stand tall like a string is pulling the top of your head up.

HIP MOVEMENT

- Push your hips FORWARD and BACK — not side to side.
- Small, fast pulses. Speed beats size.
- Cue: think "push the wall behind you" with the small of your back.

COMMON MISTAKES

- Going side to side — kills the rotation.
- Leaning forward or back — keeps your core engaged but stay tall.
- Bending knees too much — locks your hips.
- Holding your breath — exhale on the push, inhale on the recover.

3-MINUTE WARM-UP

- 30s gentle hip circles (no hoop) — wake up your obliques.
- 30s cat-cows — mobilize the spine.
- 30s standing side bends — open the ribcage.
- 30s march in place — get the heart rate up.
- 60s slow practice with the hoop — find your rhythm before you push.

WHEN THE HOOP DROPS

It's normal. Most beginners drop the hoop 50+ times the first week — every catch is your core firing up. Pick it up, reset, and go again. Day 14 will feel different. Trust it.

form first. speed second. consistency wins everything.
